We all remember that great television show Cheers... Well, Baja has its very own version of the fun loving bar. The first time you visit Bahia Cantiles / Amigo's Cantina you will know what I mean.

Owner Nicolas Santos has been service business for many years. Eleven years ago, he was tending bar at the then named Las Palmas in Puerto Nuevo, then he moved to a restaurant named Raul's and later he became the bartender at Cantiles, which he now owns.

If you are looking for a quality drink at an affordable price in a very friendly atmosphere this is the bar.

About ¼ mile north of the entrance to Puerto Nuevo and just behind "Virgins" at KM43, you will find this quaint and unique little restaurant and cantina. Once you have experienced the hospitality, service and comradery you will return time and again.

On the menu they have the finest Black Sea Bass in all of Baja, prepared in a variety of styles. Mondays is Men's Day and Wednesday is Ladies Day with special drink prices from 2-6. On the weekend live bands make for a great party environment.
